THE DAYS OF MY YOUTH.

When the blithe labors of the day have past,
And the broad sun reclines beneath the west;
How sweet in friendship's careless arms we lay,
And count the pleasures of a well spent day;
How sweet the board where genial souls beguile
Each fleeting moment with a social smile.
So when the evening of our life draws near;
When passions shrink from virtue's mild career, Remembrance paints each chequer'd scene with joy, And bounding pleasures re-create the boy:
Oh! past delights—oh! scenes of earliest truth,
The sweetest—dearest—best days of my youth.
Days of my youth! how oft, when pleasure calls [balls,
To cheerful concerts, and to splendid Does the revolting soul, on fancy's wing, Guided by memory, trace each trifling thing [quill'd That once delighted, and that once be-A fondling mother and her sportive child.
Yes! amid crowds, where passions loudly ring, [highest string; Where the mad soul has touch'd the The heart, in silent sadness, traces o'er The paths of innocence it trod before, And sighs, a-senting to the general truth, Our days of pleasure are—our days of youth. N.

From a late London Paper.

A gentleman, who was an eyewitness of the affair, has related to us the following particulars of the apprehension of the young man who was last week executed at Lyons for sedition, and died with much audacious boldness. It appears that he had acted as Secretary to the ULTRA REFORMING society in that city, and when their plot was discovered, a considerable reward was offered for his apprehension; he, however, succeeded in effectually secreting himself for several days from the argus-eyed police, when the young executive took his passage, under a frigned name, in a vessel going down the river to Châlons, in which our informant was passenger.

He had got safely on board, and the sloop got under weigh; but in less than a quarter of an hour, was hailed to arrest her course, by a boat rowed with great velocity, and filled with GEND'ARMES, who got alongside the vessel, and demanded if Mr. — was on board; and being answered in the negative, they ascended the sloop, and proceeded to examine the passengers, comparing their persons with a minute printed description of the young revolutionist. He was soon identified; but instantly leaped overboard, and was instantly followed by one of the officers; they both swam well, but the young refugee finding himself likely to become a captive, gave himself up to desperation; turned round on his pursuer, smiled contemptuously on him, folded his arms, and sunk, as all the spectators thought, to rise no more. The officer however was not thus to be deprived of his anticipated reward; he dived after him, but without effect: a second time he dived without more success; but on a third effort, he was seen to rise, grasping his devoted victim. He swam with him to the vessel, where means of animation were successfully applied.— The young fellow was then properly secured, he was taken on shore, tried, found guilty and executed.

CURIOUS ANECDOTE.

bursting of the South Sea bubble, a gentleman called late in the evening at the banking house of Messrs. Hart & Co.—He was in a coach, but refused to get out, and desired that one of the partners of the house would come to him. Having ascertained that it was really one of the principals and not a clerk, who appeared, he put into his hands a parcel, very carefully sealed up, and desired that it might be laid on one side till he should call again, which would be in the course of a few days.—A few days passed away—a few weeks—a few months,— but the stranger never returned. About the latter end of the second or third year, the partners agreed to open this mysterious parcel in the presence of each other. They found it to contain 30,000 pounds, and a letter stating that it was obtained by the South Sea speculation, and directing that it should be vested in the hands of three trustees whose names were mentioned, and the interest appropriated to the relief of the poor, which was accordingly done. [ibid.]

INTERESTING ANECDOTE.

Serjeant Weir, of the Scots Grays, was pay serjeant of his troop, at the battle of Waterloo, and as such might have been excused serving in action, and perhaps he should not have been forward; but on such a day as the battle of Waterloo, he requested to be allowed to charge with the regiment.
In one of the charges he fell, mortally wounded, and was left on the field.
Corporal Scott, of the same regiment, who lost a leg, asserts that when the field was searched for the wounded and slain, the body of brave serjeant Weir was found with his name written on his forehead, by his own finger dipped in his own blood. This his comrade said, he was supposed to have done that his body might be found and known, and that it might not be imagined he had disappeared with the money of the troop. [ibid.]

NEWSPAPER WITS.

The Morning Chronicle, in allusion to the severe hurt which Lord Castlereagh has recently received in the hand from the bite of a mad dog, observes, "the present is not the first time that Lord Castlereagh has been attacked by canine ferocity." To this the Courier replies, that no doubt the above joke is levelled at Mr. Brough-am's speech at the close of the session, and adds that in both cases, "the Noble Lord's assailants have made a bad hand of it." [ibid.]

FEMALE COURAGE.

Weakness and timidity form the ordinary character of women. We have however, sometimes seen the love of humanity elevate that sex to actions the most courageous, of which the following incident affords a new proof.
"On the 18th of last month some children were playing before a house or a hamlet called la Boulerie, commune of Blannaves, in the district of Alais, when a furious wolf rushed on the group, and carried off a child five years old. At its cries, a woman named Pouge, wife of the Sieur Nouvel, ran to its assistance. The woman consulting only her own heart, pursued and immediately attacked the animal, and compelled it to drop the child, which she carried back to its parents, covered with wounds, but happily none of them sufficiently severe to cause any alarm." [Paris paper.]

AMERICAN PEDESTRIAN.

Mr. Joseph Bell, house carpenter, started from Gibson's Hotel, Wall-street, New-York, at three o'clock on the morning of Wednesday, the 3d of September, and reached Philadelphia at 6 o'clock in the evening of the same day; after delaying about three quarters of an hour on the road rendering assistance to a carriage that broke down—he was to walk from New-York to Philadelphia, and back again in forty eight hours—a distance of 192 miles, and to rest as long as he should please during the journey; but of which provision he did not avail himself, having taken but three hours rest, walking about the city the rest of the time, until he started to return, which was at half past 2 o'clock on Thursday evening, the 4th of September. He is accompanied on his journey by a man and horse.—The bet is held by Mr. Jauncey, merchant, and Mr. Price, both of New-York, for $500.

AN ANCIENT WARRIOR.

Seward, the Duke of Northumberland, rendered himself famous in the eleventh century, by totally defeating that tyrant Macbeth, and restoring King Malcolm to the throne of Scotland. Of this valiant nobleman a singular circumstance is related which displays his high sense of honor, and his martial disposition. When he found his death approaching, he ordered his servants to clothe him in a complete suit of armour; and setting erect on his couch, with his spear in his hand, he declared that, in that position, he would patiently await the fatal moment.

ALEXANDRIA: SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1817.

From the Baltimore Federal Gazette.
STATE } Baltimore County Court.
vs. } Indictment for kidnap-ing.

JOHN LACY, j'p'g.
In July last John Lacy took Aaron Hulbert, a mulatto boy, about nine or ten years old, from Baltimore county to Alexandria, and sold him as a slave for life. Soon after the sale, some circumstances transpired which induced the purchaser to believe that the boy had been kidnapped; and Lacy was arrested and committed to jail in Alexandria, and information of what had been done sent to the boy's friends. The necessary documents were then furnished, and the governor of Maryland demanded Lacy under the act of congress as a fugitive from justice, and he was brought to Baltimore.
Upon his trial it was proved that the boy was born free; that he had been put to live with Lacy by his grandmother, his parents being dead; that the agreement between Lacy and the grandmother was, that the boy should be bound an apprentice, but the indentures had not been executed; that after the boy had lived with Lacy two or three months, he took him to Alexandria and sold him as a slave for life.

Verdict, GUILTY. Sentence, confinement in the penitentiary to hard labor five years.

New-York, Sept. 23.

Captain Nixon, from Lisbon, brings despatches from our Consul, and from the Portuguese government, to their minister at Philadelphia.

A few days before Captain Nixon sailed, a Russian brig arrived that had been taken by a Tunisian corsair, and retaken by the captain, who bore overboard the prize crew, consisting of 11 persons.— The captain was severely wounded, and one of his men died at Lisbon.

Captain N. left at Lisbon a fleet of 25 sail of transports, to sail on the 29th of July, with troops, under convoy of three frigates.

Two Portuguese Indiamen, valued at three hundred thousand pounds, had been captured by the privateer, formerly the Congress, of Baltimore.

Two 74's sailed from Lisbon for Trieste, to take on board the Princess, one of which was launched for the express purpose, after having been eight years on the stocks. [Gazette.]

We state with pleasure, that the marble monument, intended to be erected at Baltimore in honor of those brave men who fell in defence of that place during the late war, reached this city on Saturday, in the schooner Janus from Leghorn.
[ibid.]

A gentleman arrived in town on Saturday, who a few weeks since fell in at sea with a prize to the privateer True Blooded Yankee, captain Jewett, and was informed by the prize master that the privateer had captured a Spanish sloop of war, after a short engagement.

INDIAN REVENGE.

Mr. Mead is presented by a traveller, who called yesterday at the house of Mr.
Solomon H. Wisdom, with the following narration of facts:

Chub, an Indian belonging to the Cocktown nation, in company with another Indian, got drunk at Bayou Sarah, about 12 years ago, and they, in a fracas, had recourse to clubs. Some time after, the Indian, whose name is not recollected, was taken with the measles, yet travelled to Natchez, in the vicinity of which, he made his exit. His death was attributed by his Indian friends to the wound inflicted on him by Chub. But Chub's friends contended there was strong presumptive evidence that his exit was occasioned by imprudently wading in the water, in order to cross the brooks or creeks, travelling from Bayou Sarah to Natchez. The spring season being rainy, the weather was such that no sick man ought to travel on foot, or lie on the wet ground, particularly when the measles were making their appearance.

Five or six months after the Indian's death, his relatives, four of whom, thirsting for blood like the tigers of the forests, came armed with their rifles and other weapons peculiar to Indians, and lay in ambush near Chub's encampment, on the banks of J— H—, esq. about a half a mile from his house.

Chub being in search of what is called in this country, light-wood, by those who are accustomed to burn it in the night instead of candles, or pine knots split into small pieces, used by the Indians for what is called fire-burning, was in the act of splitting them, when he received a ball in his right hip; notwithstanding the wound, he gave a yell, or war-whoop, and ran some yards. He was in the attitude of falling to the ground, when three Indians fired and put three balls into his right breast.

Mr. Solomon H. Wisdom was sent for by the neighbors, who were so much alarmed both at hearing the death of Chub and the report of the guns, begging him

• Pine knots and the most resinous parts of pine, set on fire in an old try-pan, and carried in the night into the woods; deer stand still; the shipping of their eyes is a mark for the hunters.

to inquire how, and in what manner, and for what cause he had been killed.— Upon a strict scrutiny of Indian Tom, his brother in-law Baptiste, a son in-law, Old Jenny, his wife, Mein, Tom, and Chub their children, Celia, the daughter of squaw Sarah, Jenny's sister, they solemnly declared to Mr. Wisdom and the two young men, accompanying him, all of whom being well armed, that the Indians had killed Chub. Bob a Sheras, literally translated, friends, come see; then they took the blanket of the dead body, and exposed the naked wounds to the view of all present.

This savage scene of murder excited the most alarming apprehensions, lest the Indians should attribute his death to the negroes or their masters. Though these Indians have lived in this vicinity twenty odd years, and can speak good English, when they please, yet their savage dispositions are unchanged. The moment Chub was killed, a runner was sent to the Chockta nation, to inform his brother that he had been killed. As soon as he got the news, he came to this place, 12 miles from St. Francisville, and the distance from the nation is supposed to be more than 300 miles, the way he travelled, to enquire of old Jenny and her children, what kind of Indians those were who killed his brother. They told him that the nearest blood to the Indian who was supposed to have died of the measles, fired the first ball. This rank-led his breast with all his native ferocity to imbue his hands in the blood of his enemy.

He followed him to the Attackapas, Oppelonsas, Rapids, Onachitaw, Natchi-toches, from thence returned to Natchi-toches, and then came hither to tell the family of his great misfortune in not finding no bearing of him; being resolved on Lex Talionis, returned to the Chockta nation, unsuccessfully searching it and the six towns.

After a lapse of a year and a half, he had, as he expressed it, the great happiness of hearing that his victim was at Nacogdoches, whither he went to find an opportunity of wreaking his revenge and malice in the most secret and bloody manner. By way-laying him coming out of the unsuspecting roof of hospitality, with the instrument of death which he carried with him, he brought him to the ground, and left him lying in the gore in a state of non-animation.

This tragedy ended—he returned to Bayou Sarah to narrate the prowess and adventures of the enterprise, and to immingle his felicities with his relation; who applauded his generosity for having travelled nearly 2000 miles before he satiated his savage appetite with blood.

Mr. Wisdom was told by him with expressions of exultation, what he had achieved for the names of his brother, that he was about returning to the Chockta nation, in which he has remained ever since.

Recent tragical events in West Florida.
Bayou Sarah, 13 miles from St. Francis-ville, Friday, May 24th, 1816.

About two weeks anterior to this date, Tom, a young Indian, and an old one of the Chickasaw nation, having a Chockta quaw for a wife, and living here had a quarrel—both were drunk; the former cut the latter on his head with a bottle, in consequence of which he challenged him to fight, the next day, a duel with their rifles. Tom accepted the challenge, their encampment being 5 miles apart; by agreement they were to meet at a certain place, being half way. The challenger arrived at the time and place, but the other party did not appear on the ground. The fury of the old Indian increased in proportion as the chances of revenge diminished. His mind was bent upon nothing but the most gloomy and horrid ideas. With the intention of taking the life of Tom, he procured a young Indian, who was his friend, to kill him; for, he said, from his wounds and old age, he could not live long, and was extremely anxious to have Tom immediately killed. His friend, Desangfrid, executed his very inhuman injunction, and then went to take the life of Tom, who told him he was willing to be shot; but his mother, Old Jenny, said it was a shame that such a young likely Indian as Tom, should die for an old Chickasaw; therefore she would die in his place; but Tom would not at first agree to it, until Old Jenny assured him, and all present, she was resolved not to survive her son. After her life was commuted for the old Chickasaw's, her son in-law (John) took his gun; after loading it, gave it to Tom, a young Indian, not a relation, but a mutual friend of the parties. He held it under his blanket till Old Jenny took her sublun-ary farewell of her children, grand children, her sister Sarah, and particularly of her son James, a boy about 13 years of age. She said, "James, I am going to see your father Chub, who was also shot, but in a private manner.—Here, to this grave, which was dug for my son Tom, by my request, I conign my body.
Do not mourn for me; I am old, and going to see Chub, and your brother, who died about 11 years ago. When you die, oh! come and see me and your father. It is my dying request that Tom would go and kill the young Indian, who, last winter, when in a state of drunkenness, cut your old aunt Sarah on the head with a bottle. If you are killed for it, then your brother Chub must kill him that took his life. Should Tom not be killed, I beg him to take care of my two sons." Then, with a solemn, low tone, and a slow step, she moved forward backwards, for some time, in a straight line. As a token for the Indian to squatter upon her knees. The executioner took the gun from under blanket, which she seized and held muzzle of it to her bosom, and he charged the contents of it into her Whatever article she was in possession of, were flung into her grave. It repeated they decamped in the night to some other place, for fear the would prosecute them. The next morning Tom went to execute his mother's bloody commands. The Indian friends of Tom's being in pursuit of him, he himself. Tom says he does not wish live since his mother's death; if his mies be in search of him, he will also himself. This happened near a schoolhouse—the school-master, it is reported and many of the children, were speculators. A very interesting and intelligent young lady, 11 or 12 years old, of a respectable parentage, verbally told me traveller, that she saw her attitudes, a gun to her breast, and heard the report of it, and saw her fall dead to the ground.

Bayou Sarah, W. Florida, 12 miles from St. Francisville, Friday, June 14.

Mr. Mead—the traveller happened to be at the house of Mr. S. H. Wisdom near the theatre of Indian execution.
The novelty of the scenes induced him take his pen and ink out of his pocket and commit them to paper. Mr. Mead Wisdom, in fact the whole family, after hearing them read, concurred that the statement was correct. He gave the traveller liberty to make use of it in his ever way he might choose to do.

I dian James, recounted to Mr. Mead Wisdom, his mother's valiant de-dress, immediately after her execution in the presence of the whole family.
They asked him if he was not sorry for her death. His answer was, no—he wanted to die. A very remarkable of the human mind is seen in the young Indian, who closed the terrible scene of the old Chickasaw, and old Jenny, through the most endearing family ship. He was accosted by the woman as follows:—John! who can say he unadulterated blood of the brave does not run in your veins? How we not recently seen the equanimity with which you performed in part, the injunctions and kind offices for your Christian friend? How shall we express the painful task, devolving on us, of contrasting your subsequent conduct, which we can not so much applaud as condemn? Who can think you worthy the name of warrior, when you have stained that noble character, by suffering the sympathies of an old woman to unlock your heart and your judgment? Oh! can you think possible the Great Spirit and the shades your departed friend are pleased with your conduct—is this the law of retribution? an old squaw, whose life became irksome to herself, tells you, she will kill herself, if you execute her son; be-see you make the commutation? Being overwhelmed with grief, he retired and shot himself dead. Mr. Wisdom is an intelligent man, and can talk Indian—he has often had one of Old Jenny's sons to work in the field for him.

If any one calls in question the authenticity of these transactions, positive proof can be adduced by many of both sexes, different ages and conditions. It is a fact, that several gentlemen are in possession of the documents respecting these Indians, and nothing has prevented their appearance in print, in St. Francisville and New-Orleans, but being informed that they have been published in the city of Washington.

RIGGS & GAITHER,
BRIDGE-STREET, GEORGETOWN.
HAVE just received 197 Packages Fall and Winter Goods, and expect the remainder of the supply by the first arrival from Liverpool. This is believed to be the most extensive, best assorted and cheapest supply of goods ever received in this place. These goods will be sold by the piece or package to town and country merchants, at a very small profit for cash, or undoubted negotiable paper at 4 and 6 months. They invite the merchants to call, as they shall be supplied as low as they can be purchased at any market in the United States, being determined to do business on the most liberal principles, and to aid the commerce of this district generally. They particularly invite all persons purchasing supplies for government to give them a call, as they may depend on being supplied much to their satisfaction.

Employment Wanted.
THE Passenger of a ship lately arrived from London, would be thankful to meet an engagement in some line of business, well adapted to his age, habits, and circumstances—That bring his principal object, Salary at the commencement, is with deference submitted as a minor consideration; provided, that he thereby be enabled to discharge an existing obligation to another, and procure a small reserve for casual purposes to himself. Conformable to these views, he ventures to designate the departments wherein he can render himself considerably useful to an employer; namely:
As Bookkeeper to a Planter, Merchant or Factor.—As an Assistant in a Store.—As Copying Clerk to an Attorney at Law, or public Notary.—As extra Clerk in a Banking-House or Public Office.—As Teacher in a Parish or Country School.—Finally, in any department that shall coincide with the principal object, and serve the purposes subsequently expressed.
Note.—Further particulars can be furnished, when required by letter or message, addressed to A. B. Messrs. Jones KERRILL and Co. or to the Printing Office.

Land for Sale.
THE Subscriber offers for sale, about 2000 acres of land in Fairfax county, not more than from seven to nine miles from Alexandria. The property is well watered, has a sufficiency of wood, and (judging from the condition of small and well cultivated farms that adjoin it) it is highly susceptible of improvement.—It is at present divided into tenements, of from one to two hundred acres, each provided with a dwelling house, out houses, a garden and orchard; and night, of course, be laid off into four or five very compact farms. The principal object of the subscriber, being the introduction of a good system of husbandry into his neighborhood, he will sell on very moderate terms, give a long credit on the whole amount of the purchase money, and require no other interest, than what the present rent of the land pays, being about 5 per cent. on its estimated value.

Fauquier Land for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale his farm, called "CULLINS," situated in the county of Fauquier, on Kettle Run, and adjoining the lands of Messrs. Samuel Weaver, Jacob Weaver, and others, 7 miles from Fauquier Court House, 33 from Alexandria, and 3 from the Buckland Mills, containing about 400 acres; a considerable portion of which is now in very heavy timber, the balance cleared and in cultivation, including about 80 acres of the first quality bottom land, which, with a small portion of labor, might be made to produce a large quantity of hay. This land lies well, and is in a good neighborhood, and fine watered, Kettle Run passing through the farm. To a person disposed to purchase land for the purpose of cultivating and improving it himself, the above offers great advantages, as the plaster Paris & clover acts on no land more efficaciously than on this.

Also, one other farm, lying immediately adjoining, containing the like number of 400 acres; about one half of which has been cleared, the balance well set in timber.

The above farms will be sold together or separately, as may suit purchasers.—For terms, which will be liberal, apply to the subscriber, residing near the premises.

A valuable Farm for Sale.

THE SUBSCRIBER will sell, on reasonable terms, a valuable and productive farm of 600 acres, of the late Richard Brent, lying on Kettle Run in the county of Prince William, in the state of Virginia—20 miles from the Occoquan Mills—33 miles from Alexandria, and about the same distance from Georgetown and the City of Washington. This farm lies in the centre of an excellent neighborhood—is handsomely situated—abundantly watered, and has upon it an ample proportion of wood. The soil is naturally strong, and a considerable portion of it has for some years past been cultivated according to the most approved rules of modern husbandry.—Possession will be given on the first day of January next. The terms upon which this property will be sold, will be made known upon application to George L. Brent, of Stafford County, Va. or to the subscriber living in Alexandria.

Land for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale a tract of 80 acres of land, on the Colchester road, five miles from Alexandria, adjoining the lands of Haywood Foote and Dennis Johnston. The greater part of this tract is fine meadow land, abundantly supplied with water. Also one other tract of 261 acres, on the Ravensworth road, about 6 miles from Alexandria, and one mile from the first mentioned tract, adjoining land of Thos. Janney and Mr. McPherson—the greater part of this tract is in wood, the soil good and highly susceptible of improvement, from the use of plaster. If these lands are not sold before the first of January next, they will then be for rent.

Sully for Sale

THIS estate, situated in the county of Fairfax, twenty two miles from Alexandria, and the same distance from Georgetown, contains about seven hundred and fifty acres. Little River Turnpike passes through it half a mile from the dwelling house. The situation is handsome, and remarkably healthy; the water is good and abundant. The soil which was originally excellent, has for some years past had the advantage of improving husbandry, Plaster of Paris acting with powerful and immediate effect on all grasses and grains. The fields present a good surface for cultivation; and those, now untill, are covered with red clover. The orchards are very large and thrifty; the collection of table fruit is choice and various. The mansion is spacious and well constructed: the out-houses are conveniently situated, and the whole have been lately thoroughly repaired and painted. The farm houses, which are all nearly new, are expensive and excellent in their kind.

For a gentleman of leisure this would be a delightful residence; and a profitable estate for an active farmer. The title is indisputable, and perfectly unencumbered.

A number of well taught orderly young men, with good stocks and farming utensils of all kinds, and the crops of the present year, if desired, will be at the command of the purchaser.

Application may be made to the subscriber, living on the premises, next his post-office at Pleasant Valley, in Fairfax.

James Kennedy & Son,

BOOKSELLERS,

KING-STREET, ALEXANDRIA,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from

Lee's Medicine Store,

No. 46, Maiden Lane, New-York a fresh supply of the following valuable MED-

CINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant woman or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross hu-morours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mild est purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Tenes or large round worm; the Ascari-des or small maw-worm; the Cucubitifirs or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tenuis or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fætid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.
